

Spicy Beef & Leeks

with Udon Noodles

30-40min

4 Servings

We took a lot of inspiration from a typical Szechuan stir-fry for this one. Szechuan cooking has the reputation of turning the spice dial to up to 11, but luckily this recipe allows you to dial it up or down with as much or little hot chili oil as you'd like. A useful time-saving tip: this recipe can be prepped through step 3 early in the day, refrigerated, and then completed at dinnertime! Coo...

What we send

- grass-fed ground beef
- leek
- toasted sesame oil <sup>11</sup>
- fresh cilantro
- chicken broth concentrate
- ground cumin
- crushed red pepper

What you need

- all-purpose flour <sup>1</sup>
- coarse salt

Tools

- colander
- large pot
- large skillet

Read through the whole recipe before you start. Rinse and dry all produce before using. Weights may vary slightly.

For recipes containing garlic, you'll find one head of garlic in your box.

We recommend you use coarse kosher salt stored in a container that allows you to grab it with your fingertips, or scoop with measuring spoon.

1. Prep ingredients

Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil. Trim leeks, halve lengthwise, cut into ½-inch slices. Wash in a large bowl of water, allowing grit to settle at the bottom. Using a slotted spoon, lift leeks out of the water. Repeat once more. Roughly chop cilantro. In a measuring cup, whisk broth concentrate, 5 tablespoons tamari, and 1½ cups water to dissolve.

4. Cook beef

Heat 1 tablespoon oil in the same skillet over medium-high. Add beef mixture, stirring to break up the large pieces, and cook until fat is rendered and beef is browned, 6-7 minutes. Pour mixture into a colander to drain. Discard fat.

2. Season beef

In a medium bowl, combine beef, 3 tablespoons of the cumin, ½ teaspoon crushed red pepper, remaining tamari, and 2 teaspoons of the sesame oil.

5. Cook leeks

Add 1 tablespoon oil to skillet over medium-high. Add leeks, and cook, stirring occasionally, until softened, but still green, 4-5 minutes. Return beef to skillet and stir in 2 tablespoons flour. Add broth mixture and bring to a boil, scraping up any browned bits stuck to the skillet. Simmer over medium-low until slightly thickened, 3-4 minutes.

3. Make chili oil

In a large skillet, combine 2 tablespoons oil with remaining crushed red pepper and sesame oil and cook over medium heat just until warm, but not sizzling. Carefully pour into a small heatproof bowl. Wipe out skillet.

6. Cook noodles & serve

Add noodles to boiling water and cook, stirring once or twice, until tender, 6-7 minutes. Drain and rinse under hot running water; shake out excess water and transfer to bowls. Stir half of the cilantro into beef mixture, and spoon over noodles. Top with remaining cilantro and serve with chili oil on the side, adding as much or as little as you like. Enjoy!
