Spicy Pork Chilaquiles with Homemade Chips & Cheddar

 20-30min  2 Servings

Chilaquiles is a traditional Mexican dish that consists of crispy tortillas smothered in sauce and cheese, which is basically heaven in a skillet. We use flour tortillas in place of corn because we like their flakiness. Ground pork, green bell peppers, and a slightly spicy chorizo chili tomato sauce are topped with sharp cheddar and tortilla strips. We've got you covered!

1. Prep ingredients

Preheat oven to 450°F with a rack in the upper third. In a medium bowl, combine pork, chorizo chili spice, ½ teaspoon salt, and a few grinds pepper. Halve bell pepper, remove stem, core and seeds, then thinly slice. Finely chop cheddar.

2. Bake tortilla strips

Stack 4 of the tortillas, then cut into ½-inch strips (save remaining tortillas for your own use). Transfer to a rimmed baking sheet, then toss with 2 tablespoons oil and a generous pinch each salt and pepper. Bake in upper third of oven until crisp and browned in spots, 3–6 minutes (watch closely).

3. Cook peppers & pork

Heat 1 tablespoon oil in a medium ovenproof skillet over high. Add peppers and a pinch each salt and pepper. Cook until barely crisp-tender, about 4 minutes. Add pork to skillet. Cook, stirring occasionally, until cooked through and browned in spots, 3–4 minutes.

4. Build sauce

Add ½ cup tomato paste to skillet. Cook, stirring, until the pork and peppers are coated, and the tomato paste turns brick red, 1–2 minutes. Add 2 cups water. Cook over high until liquid is reduced by ⅓, 6–7 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

5. Bake chilaquiles & serve

Add half of the tortilla strips to skillet with sauce and stir to combine. Sprinkle cheese and remaining tortilla strips over the top. Transfer to upper third of oven. Bake until cheese has melted and tortilla strips are golden-brown, 3–4 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes before serving. Enjoy!

6. Take it to the next level

Add finely chopped red onion or fresh cilantro to the sauce in step 4. Finish the dish with chopped cilantro, slices of fresh avocado, or chopped pickled jalapeños for those who like it spicy!
